

You can complete the pdf directly online, save the document send send it to afc.georgevincent@gmail.com. Thank you for completing the form online to finalise the enrolment. Please tick all relevant statements regarding your skills in French. Please note that the skills are listed in order of increasing difficulty.

Reading

Writing

Listening

I can understand globally simple information and short descriptions with pictures.	I can fill in forms with personal details.	I can understand everyday expressions if the person speaks slowly and articulates.	1
I can understand texts with familiar words about the most common everyday situations.	I can write a short postcard or a note to a friend.	I can understand questions and instructions.	2
I can understand short, simple messages such as postcards.	I can write short letters and messages with the help of a dictionary.	I can understand numbers, prices and times.	3
I can understand short, simple texts written in common everyday language.	I can describe my family, my school, my activities and explain what I like or dislike.	I can understand simple, everyday life exchanges and conversations on familiar matters if people speak clearly and slowly.	4
I can find specific information in brochures, advertisements, menus, timetables, simple letters and newspaper articles.	I can write short notes and messages on my everyday life and simple letters, for example to thank someone or apologise.	I can understand globally simple messages and announcements.	5
I can understand personal letters and letters on familiar topics.	I can describe my past activities and experiences.	I can understand enough to meet my needs in everyday life (at a shop, asking directions, etc.) although I may ask people to repeat.	6
I can understand globally newspaper articles on familiar subjects.	I can write personal letters describing experiences, feelings and events in detail.	I can generally follow everyday conversations and extended discussions if the person speaks clearly.	7
I can identify the main arguments and conclusions in a text.	I can describe the plot of a book or film and give my opinion.	I can understand general information and specific details about familiar topics.	8
I can understand personal letters well enough to correspond with a friend or acquaintance.	I can give reasons and explanations for opinions and actions.	I can understand the main information in audio material about familiar subjects if the person speaks slowly and clearly.	9
I can read many kinds of texts quite easily and on a wide range of topics.	I can sum up information and arguments from a number of sources.	I can understand in detail standard conversations, on both familiar and unfamiliar topics.	10
I have a broad vocabulary but I sometimes experience difficulty with less common words.	I can develop arguments and evaluate different ideas and solutions to a problem.	I can follow the main points of lectures, talks and reports with complex ideas and language.	11
I can understand articles and reports and quickly identify their content and the writer's point of view.	I can write about hypothetical situations and express causes and consequences.	I can understand most radio documentaries, TV news, interviews and films in standard language.	12